++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly cloudy and mild today, but brighter and breezier tomorrow.

Today:
Low cloud, mist and hill fog at first, but slowly improving with some brighter periods developing. Another mild day with generally light winds, however becoming breezier in Cumbria later with rain arriving around dusk, then moving southeast through the evening. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Tonight:
Patchy rain clearing south this evening, with drier and clearer weather following for a time overnight. A few showers later. Turning chilly but the breeze keeping it largely frost free. Minimum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Wednesday:
Breezier and feeling a little cooler on Wednesday, but otherwise a generally dry and bright day with sunny spells and just a small chance of a shower. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Mild and largely cloudy with the odd drizzly outbreak at times over the hills. Some bright or sunny intervals are possible in places. More widespread rain arriving later Saturday. Breezy.
